

Anna L. Sanborn - Coasting Schooner

Vessel History

Anna L. Sanborn - Coasting Schooner

Built As: Anna L. Sanborn
Subsequent Names: Her name stayed the same, but she was repainted as A.L. Sanborn
Class: Schooner
Hull: Wood
Masts: 2
Build Date: 1883
Built at: Salem, Massachusetts
Built for: Various parties held shares, among them, holding 2/32 shares, was:
John Dearborn Sanborn (1821-) of Rockport, Massachusetts
Named for: Daughter of John D. Sanborn
Sanborn - Annie L. (Sanborn) Stimson (1860-a.1930)
Power: Sail
Gross tons: 34.98
Net tons: 17
Capacity:
Length: 56'
Beam: 17.2'
Depth: 5.8'
Crew: Slept 10
Number: 106203 - 460885 - both listed at various times.

Subsequent Owners:
1905: Owned by John L. Stanley Fisheries, Southwest Harbor, Manset, Maine
1907: Home port was Manset, Southwest Harbor, Maine
1910 - 1914: Owned or partially owned by Mayo - Byron H. Mayo (1856-1918)
Mayo - Byron Heman Mayo (1856-1918)

She was a fishing vessel - listed as fishing at first and later as a fish carrier.

Disposition: 1914: November 25, 1914 - foundered near Duck Island, Isles of Shoals. Hailed from Boothbay, Maine when she sank.

"...a plank started by the pounding of heavy seas is supposed to have dropped from the vessel's bottom..." - "Fish-Carrying Schooner Went Down - Crew Lost," Altoona Tribune, Altoona, Pennsylvania, November 25, 1914. Actually the crew of three were saved by Portsmouth, New Hampshire fisherman, George Dobson. Probably: Dobson - George H. Dobson Jr. (1852-1937)

PDF: https://swhpl.digitalarchive.us/files/original/15911/Anna\_L.\_Sanborn\_Coasting\_Schooner.pdf

Identifier: 15911

Title: Anna L. Sanborn - Coasting Schooner

Type: Reference

Subject: Vessels, Ship, Sailing Ship, Schooner

Rights: In Copyright - Non-Commercial Use Permitted